2014 MDS Annual Meeting

PRESIDENT'S WELCOME

Dear Members of the MDS:

I'd like to personally welcome each of you to the Medical Dermatology Society Annual Meeting and the 20th Anniversary Celebration of the MDS. It's an exciting time for the MDS. As we continue to grow, we remain always adaptable, motivated and responsive to medical dermatology. Our organization is faced with a number of challenges which we're meeting head on during a time of larger nation-wide and global change. The MDS remains committed to sharing knowledge, facilitating collaborative opportunities and supporting the development of inspired dermatologists who will advance the subspecialty.

There has been an increasing interest in the MDS as reflected by 42 abstracts submitted this year compared to 17 last year and a record attendance last year of 200 attendees. This is the first year we tried to raise additional funds by selling ads in the Annual Meeting Program; and this has generated $4,500 as of February 14, 2014. So it appears that the MDS is alive and well and shows signs of continued growth.

I trust you will find the program to be comprehensive and relevant. The MDS Education and Program Committee have worked extremely hard to ensure a quality program for all MDS members. Personally I want to thank the Program Committee for their efforts in organizing the 2014 program. The committee is composed of Carrie Kovarik, MD (Program Co-Chair); Amit Garg, MD (Program Co-Chair); Milan Anadkat, MD; Adela Rambí Cardones, MD; Jonathan Cotliar, MD; Vinod Nambudiri, MD; David Wetter, MD.

I'd like to give you an idea of what you can expect and what we hope to achieve during today's Annual Meeting. Dr. Alison Bruce, from the Mayo Clinic Rochester will present the Keynote Session on Oral Manifestations of Autoimmune and Inflammatory Disease, highlighting Crohn's disease, oral graft vs host; as well as oral ulcers in some of the other autoimmune disorders such as lupus; complex aphthosis; and xerostomia management in Sjogrens syndrome. Dr. Misha Rosenbach, from the University of Pennsylvania will feature an exceptional presentation on Sarcoidosis. This session will display the full spectrum of cutaneous morphologies that can occur in this protean disease, while reviewing the appropriate workup for internal involvement and presenting cutting edge treatment algorithms.

Before I close, I'd like to thank each of you for attending the MDS Annual Meeting and 20th Anniversary Celebration and bringing your expertise to our gathering. You, as organization leaders, have the vision, the knowledge, the wherewithal and the experience to help pave our way into the future. You are truly our greatest asset today and tomorrow, and we could not accomplish what we do without your support and leadership. Throughout this annual meeting, I ask you to stay engaged, keep us proactive and help us shape the future of medical dermatology. My personal respect and thanks goes out to all of you.

If you have any questions regarding the upcoming meeting or other MDS activities, please do not hesitate to reach out to me directly or to our administrative office. The MDS administrative phone number is 216-579-9300 and the e-mail address is mds@sidnet.org. I look forward to welcoming you.

Sincerely,

The Ronald O. Perelman Department of Dermatology at New York University School of Medicine is accepting applications for the Advanced Medical Dermatology Fellowship. The applicant must have completed an ACGME-accredited dermatology residency training program and be eligible for certification by the American Board of Dermatology at the start of their fellowship. This Fellowship is a one or two year program that will allow dermatologists to receive highly specialized training and mentorship in the diagnosis and management of complex medical and dermatological conditions, including autoimmune connective tissue disease, cutaneous lymphoma, bullous disease, vasculitis, urticaria and mastocytosis. Fellows who are interested in a career as a clinical-scientist and choose a two year fellowship will be eligible to complete the Masters of Science in Clinical Investigation program offered by NYU's NIH-funded Clinical and Translational Science Institute as part of their fellowship.

David Fivenson extends warm wishes to all members of MDS on this milestone and is proud to have been part of the Medical Dermatology Society from its earliest years.

To further support our mission, he is starting a private practice based Medical Dermatology Fellowship, described below. The Medical Dermatology Fellowship is ideal for a motivated individual who wishes to gain advanced clinical experience in the management of complex medical dermatology patients. The fellowship will provide rigorous clinical training in a private practice setting specializing in the care of patients with cutaneous lymphoma, autoimmune skin diseases including vasculitis, connective tissue diseases, bullous diseases, psoriasis, atopic dermatitis, and wound care along with practical management strategies for systemic medications and treatments used in these conditions. An integral aspect of the position will be for the fellow to participate in ongoing clinical trials. The fellowship duration can be 1-2 years and will provide training that is ideal for those interested in a future career in academic medical dermatology or any individual who wants to feel more confident in diagnosis and management of these challenging patients. Prerequisite training is successful completion of a dermatology residency program and a valid Michigan medical license. Candidates before or after dermatology residency are welcome to apply.
